1 Introduction

1.1 Purpose and structure of this handbook

1.1.1 This handbook has been prepared to assist overseas supervisory authorities where they seek to obtain assistance from the Jersey Financial Services Commission (the JFSC) in the discharge of a function that is the same as, or similar to, a function of the JFSC.

1.1.2 Sections 2 and 3 provide an overview of Jersey and the JFSC, respectively.

1.1.3 The remaining sections in this handbook explain the types of assistance that the JFSC can provide. It does this in the following sections:

SECTION 4
International co-operation and information exchange under the financial services legislation

SECTION 5
International co-operation and information exchange under AML/CFT oversight legislation

SECTION 6
Information exchange under non-profit organization oversight legislation

SECTION 7
Investigations into suspected insider dealing or market manipulation

SECTION 8
Investigations into the affairs of a Jersey company

1.1.4 This handbook also includes three appendices:

APPENDIX A
Template request letter where information is sought

APPENDIX B
A summary of the information confidentiality provisions that apply to information disclosed to the JFSC by an overseas supervisory authority
APPENDIX C
A summary of the types of assistance that may be available from other agencies in Jersey

1.2 Legislation
1.2.1 This handbook will make reference to a number of pieces of legislation. A copy of all of the legislation can be obtained from the website of the Jersey Legal Information Board (www.jerseylaw.je)

1.3 The convention used in this handbook to describe requirements and policy
1.3.1 This handbook sets out a number of requirements that must be met to enable the JFSC to provide assistance to an overseas supervisory authority. Where a requirement is the result of a statutory provision the text will make that clear.

1.3.2 Text that is shown in italics indicates JFSC policy in respect of the administration of certain aspects of legislation.
2 The Island of Jersey

2.1 Location, area and population

2.1.1 Jersey is situated 22.5 kilometres off the north-west coast of France and 137 kilometres from the south coast of England. The Island has a total surface area of 118.2 square kilometres and a population of approximately 104,000.

2.2 Constitutional status

2.2.1 Jersey, together with the other Channel Islands, was part of the Duchy of Normandy before the Norman Conquest but remained loyal to the King of England when continental Normandy was lost in the year 1204.

2.2.2 The Island is a self-governing dependency of the English Crown. The Crown - in practice through Her Majesty’s Government in the United Kingdom (UK) - is formally responsible for the Island’s international relations. The UK is also responsible for the defence of the Island. The Island has autonomy in relation to its domestic affairs, including taxation.

2.2.3 The Island’s parliament is known as the Assembly of the States of Jersey and has 49 elected members and operates a ministerial system of government. The Island’s Council of Ministers is led by a Chief Minister.

2.3 Relationship with the UK and the European Union

2.3.1 Jersey is not represented in the UK Parliament and does not form part of the UK.

2.3.2 The UK Parliament does not legislate for the Island without Jersey’s consent. On occasion, with insular consent, Acts of the UK Parliament include a section which permits the extension of the Act to the Island by an Order of Her Majesty in Council, with appropriate exceptions, modifications and adaptations.

2.3.3 It is settled constitutional practice that the UK consults Jersey before it may bind the Island to obligations in international law. By agreement, Jersey has been included in many important international conventions to which the UK is a party. By a Framework Agreement signed with the UK it was agreed that, in the context of the UK’s responsibility for Jersey’s international relations, the UK will not act internationally on account of Jersey without prior consultation.

2.3.4 The Island has a special relationship with the European Union (the EU) provided by Protocol 3 to the UK’s Treaty of Accession in 1973. This relationship cannot be changed without the unanimous agreement of all Member States and Island Authorities. Under Protocol 3, the Island is part of the customs territory of the European Community. The common customs tariff, levies and other agricultural import measures therefore apply to trade between the Island and non-Member States. There is free movement of goods and trade between the Island and Member States.

2.3.5 Jersey is not part of the EU, and, as a result, is not required to implement EU Directives on such matters as movement of capital, company law or money laundering. But Jersey will emulate such measures where appropriate having particular regard to the Island’s commitment to meeting international standards of financial regulation and countering money laundering and terrorist financing.
3 The Jersey Financial Services Commission

3.1 Overview

3.1.1 The JFSC is responsible for the regulation and supervision of the financial services industry in Jersey. It is a statutory body corporate, set up under the Financial Services Commission (Jersey) Law 1998 (the Commission Law).

3.1.2 The JFSC also operates Jersey’s Registry for companies, limited partnerships, limited liability partnerships, incorporated limited partnerships, separate limited partnerships, and business names.

3.1.3 The Commission Law establishes the JFSC as an independent body, fully responsible for its own regulatory decisions. The JFSC is accountable for its overall performance to Jersey’s parliament through the Chief Minister.

3.1.4 The JFSC’s key purpose is to maintain Jersey’s position as an international finance centre that applies high regulatory standards by:

3.1.4.1 reducing risk to the public of financial loss due to dishonesty, incompetence, malpractice or the financial unsoundness of financial service providers;

3.1.4.2 protecting and enhancing the Island’s reputation and integrity in commercial and financial matters;

3.1.4.3 safeguarding the Island’s best economic interests; and

3.1.4.4 countering financial crime both in Jersey and elsewhere.

3.1.5 In support of its key purpose, the JFSC aims to:

3.1.5.1 ensure that all prudentially supervised businesses (defined in 3.2.1) that are authorised meet fit and proper criteria;

3.1.5.2 ensure that all prudentially supervised businesses are operating within accepted standards of good regulatory practice;

3.1.5.3 monitor compliance by prudentially supervised businesses and other businesses with anti-money laundering/ countering the financing of terrorism (AML/CFT) legislation;

3.1.5.4 help to determine whether non-profit organizations are assisting or being used to assist terrorism;

3.1.5.5 match international standards in respect of banking, securities, trust company business, insurance regulation, anti-money laundering, and terrorist financing defences; and

3.1.5.6 identify and deter abuses and breaches of regulatory standards.

3.1.6 The JFSC is a signatory to the multilateral memorandum of understanding of the International Organisation of Securities Commissions and has also entered into more than 80 separate bi-lateral memoranda of understanding. A full list is available on the JFSC’s website (https://www.jerseyfsc.org/industry/international-co-operation/memoranda-of-understanding/).
3.2 Prudential supervision of financial services

3.2.1 The JFSC has responsibility for the prudential oversight of banks, insurance companies, fund services businesses, investment businesses (investment managers, dealers and advisers), trust and company service providers, general insurance mediation businesses, money service businesses (bureaux de change and money transmitters) and fund products. Collectively, these will be referred to herein as prudentially supervised businesses.

3.2.2 The legal basis for overseeing prudentially supervised businesses is contained in the following laws: the Banking Business (Jersey) Law 1991; the Collective Investment Funds (Jersey) Law 1988; the Financial Services (Jersey) Law 1998; and the Insurance Business (Jersey) Law 1996 (together, financial services legislation).

3.2.3 Financial services legislation, combined with the Commission Law, provides the JFSC with the statutory power to conduct off-site and on-site supervision of prudentially supervised businesses. Financial services legislation also provides the JFSC with various tools and powers to ensure that it can carry out effective supervision.

3.3 AML/CFT oversight

3.3.1 The JFSC is also responsible for registering and overseeing those businesses that are subject to AML/CFT legislation and associated regulatory requirements. The businesses covered by this oversight include prudentially supervised businesses, lawyers, accountants, estate agents and high value goods dealers.

3.3.2 The legal basis for this oversight for compliance with AML/CFT measures is contained in the Proceeds of Crime (Supervisory Bodies) (Jersey) Law 2008 (the Supervisory Bodies Law). To enable the JFSC to carry out effective oversight this law provides the JFSC with similar statutory powers to those contained in financial services legislation.

3.4 Oversight of non-profit organizations

3.4.1 The Non-Profit Organizations (Jersey) Law 2008 (the NPO Law) requires certain non-profit organizations to register with the JFSC. The JFSC is given, amongst other things, an obligation under the NPO Law to help to determine if an NPO is assisting or being used to assist terrorism. Where it suspects that an NPO is assisting or being used to assist terrorism, the JFSC must immediately inform Jersey’s Attorney General (Chief Prosecutor).

3.5 Investigating suspected insider dealing and market manipulation

3.5.1 Under the Financial Services (Jersey) Law 1998 (the Financial Services Law), the JFSC has the power to investigate suspected cases of insider dealing or market manipulation.

3.5.2 The JFSC has the statutory power, amongst other things, to require persons to provide such information and documents as the JFSC may specify. The JFSC may also require a person to provide answers to questions that the JFSC reasonably requires the person to answer for the purpose of investigating the suspected contravention.

3.6 Investigations into the affairs of a Jersey company

3.6.1 The Companies (Jersey) Law 1991 (the Companies Law) provides the JFSC with the power to appoint an inspector to investigate and report upon the affairs of a Jersey company.
3.6.2 An inspector appointed by the JFSC has wide powers to obtain information and documents, and require persons to answer questions related to the investigation.

3.6.3 The JFSC also has access to information on the beneficial ownership of Jersey companies.
4 International Co-operation and Information Exchange under Financial Services Legislation (except for investigations into suspected insider dealing or market manipulation)

4.1 Overview

4.1.1 Financial services legislation provides the JFSC with a wide range of powers to license, supervise and enforce the regulatory regime in Jersey. Moreover, the JFSC is able to exercise many of these powers at the request of, or for the purposes of assisting, overseas supervisory authorities.

4.1.2 Some of the key areas where the JFSC is able to assist an overseas supervisory authority include:

- 4.1.2.1 Obtaining and providing information to an overseas supervisory authority in relation to applications from financial institutions for licensing in the overseas jurisdiction, or applications on behalf of principal persons (beneficial owners and senior managers of financial institutions);
- 4.1.2.2 Obtaining and providing information in response to enquiries relevant to the fitness and propriety of overseas financial institutions or their senior management in Jersey;
- 4.1.2.3 Obtaining and providing information where it is suspected that a person is conducting financial business in an overseas jurisdiction without a licence; and
- 4.1.2.4 Assisting an overseas supervisory authority to undertake onsite examinations in Jersey of branches or subsidiaries of overseas companies.

4.2 The powers the JFSC may exercise to assist an overseas supervisory authority

4.2.1 Financial services legislation permits the JFSC to exercise the following powers in order to assist an overseas supervisory authority:

- 4.2.1.1 Power to refuse or revoke a prudentially supervised business’s registration;
- 4.2.1.2 Power to impose, revoke or vary conditions of a prudentially supervised business’s registration;
- 4.2.1.3 Power to apply to the Royal Court for an order making a prudentially supervised business subject to such supervision, restraint or conditions as the Royal Court may specify;
- 4.2.1.4 Power to obtain information and documents;
- 4.2.1.5 Power to give a prudentially supervised business a direction requiring it to take, or refrain from taking, certain action;
- 4.2.1.6 Power to appoint an inspector;
4.2.1.7 Power to apply to Jersey’s Bailiff (Chief Judge) for a warrant to enter and search premises; and

4.2.1.8 Power to communicate information that is in the possession of the JFSC (notwithstanding requirements on dealing with confidential and restricted information).

4.3 Conditions precedent

4.3.1 Financial services legislation requires certain conditions to be met before the JFSC may assist an overseas supervisory authority. These are described below.

4.3.2 The JFSC must be satisfied that the overseas supervisory authority is an authority discharging any function that is the same as, or similar to, a function of the JFSC.

4.3.3 The JFSC interprets “similar function” to apply such that an authority matching the following cumulative criteria will be included in the definition:

4.3.3.1 Its functions include the regulation of financial services;

4.3.3.2 It is required, ordinarily by statute, to ascertain the fitness and propriety of persons before they operate in a particular area of financial services; and

4.3.3.3 It has the ability to take action against such persons (including removal of status) should they subsequently fall below required standards.

4.3.4 Before exercising any of the powers described in 4.2 above the JFSC must be satisfied that its use is to assist an overseas supervisory authority in the exercise of one or more of its supervisory functions.

4.3.5 Where a breach of legislation is suspected, whilst the JFSC does not expect an overseas supervisory authority to demonstrate that an offence has been committed, in order for the JFSC to give assistance, financial services legislation requires the JFSC to receive information that shows there are reasonable grounds for suspecting that an offence has been committed.

4.3.6 In addition, where information in the possession of the JFSC is to be disclosed to an overseas supervisory authority, the JFSC must be satisfied that the authority will treat the information communicated with appropriate confidentiality and will comply with any conditions attached to the disclosure.

4.3.7 In deciding whether to exercise any of the powers described above, financial services legislation states that the JFSC may take the following factors (among others) into account:

4.3.7.1 Whether corresponding assistance would be given in that country or territory to the JFSC;

4.3.7.2 Whether the case concerns the possible breach of a law, or other requirement, which has no close parallel in Jersey or involves the assertion of a jurisdiction not recognized by Jersey;

4.3.7.3 The seriousness of the case and its importance in Jersey and whether the assistance could be obtained by other means; and

4.3.7.4 Whether it is otherwise appropriate in the public interest to give the assistance.
4.4 Costs of assisting

4.4.1 Financial services legislation provides that the JFSC may refuse to assist an overseas supervisory authority unless the authority undertakes to make such contribution towards the costs of the exercise of the relevant power as the JFSC considers appropriate.

4.4.2 Notwithstanding this legal provision, the JFSC’s policy is to assist an overseas supervisory authority without charging, unless the exercise of the relevant power would be likely to involve substantial cost to the JFSC. Where a charge is considered necessary, the JFSC will first of all discuss with the overseas supervisory authority what contribution towards the costs of the work would be appropriate.

4.5 Making a request for assistance

4.5.1 Make your request in writing, specifying the information you seek and why it is required. Your request should be in the English language. To assist overseas supervisory authorities a template request letter is shown in Appendix A.

4.5.2 Where breaches of legislation are suspected or the exercise of one of the powers described in 4.2.1.1 to 4.2.1.7 above is sought, additionally specify the assistance you seek and why it is needed. In these types of cases, the JFSC has often found that it is helpful for an overseas supervisory authority to initially discuss the request orally with the JFSC so that guidance can be given on how best to structure the formal written request, in due course.

4.5.3 As referred to in 4.3.6, the JFSC must be satisfied that an overseas supervisory authority will treat any information disclosed to it with appropriate confidentiality. In this regard, include in your letter a summary of the confidentiality provisions that will apply in your jurisdiction to any information that the JFSC provides you with. (A briefing note on the information confidentiality provisions applying to information disclosed to the JFSC by an overseas supervisory authority can be found in Appendix B.)

4.6 Relevant legislation

5 International Co-operation and Information Exchange under AML/CFT oversight legislation

5.1 Overview

5.1.1 The JFSC is responsible for registering and overseeing those businesses that are subject to AML/CFT legislation and associated regulatory requirements. This involves overseeing prudentially supervised businesses for AML/CFT compliance and others such as lawyers, accountants, estate agents and high value goods dealers. (For a full list of businesses that are overseen, see Schedule 2 of the Proceeds of Crime (Jersey) Law 1999 – available from www.jerseylaw.je.)

5.1.2 The legal basis for this oversight is contained in the Supervisory Bodies Law. To enable the JFSC to carry out effective oversight the Supervisory Bodies Law provides the JFSC with similar statutory powers to those contained in financial services legislation.

5.1.3 The JFSC is able to exercise many of these powers at the request of, or for the purposes of assisting, overseas supervisory authorities.

5.1.4 Some of the key areas where the JFSC is able to assist an overseas supervisory authority include:

5.1.4.1 Obtaining and providing information to an overseas supervisory authority in relation to new applications for licensing/registering by entities under AML/CFT oversight legislation in the overseas jurisdiction;

5.1.4.2 Obtaining and providing information in response to enquiries relevant to the fitness and propriety of certain categories of person overseen by the JFSC pursuant to the Supervisory Bodies Law;

5.1.4.3 Obtaining and providing information where it is suspected that a person is conducting a business in an overseas jurisdiction without the necessary licence or registration under AML/CFT oversight legislation; and

5.1.4.4 Assisting an overseas supervisory authority to undertake onsite examinations of branches or subsidiaries of overseas companies.

5.2 The powers the JFSC may exercise to assist an overseas supervisory authority

5.2.1 The Supervisory Bodies Law permits the JFSC to exercise the following powers in order to assist an overseas supervisory authority:

5.2.1.1 Power to refuse or revoke a business’s registration;

5.2.1.2 Power to impose, revoke or vary conditions of a business’s registration;

5.2.1.3 Power to apply to the Royal Court for an order making a business subject to such supervision, restraint or conditions as the Royal Court may specify;

5.2.1.4 Power to obtain information and documents;

5.2.1.5 Power to give a business a direction requiring it to take, or refrain from taking, certain action;

5.2.1.6 Power to appoint an inspector;
5.2.1.7  Power to apply to Jersey’s Bailiff (Chief Judge) for a warrant to enter and search premises; and

5.2.1.8  Power to communicate information that is in the possession of the JFSC (notwithstanding requirements on dealing with confidential and restricted information).

5.3  Conditions precedent

5.3.1  The Supervisory Bodies Law requires certain conditions to be met before the JFSC may assist an overseas supervisory authority. These are described below.

5.3.2  The JFSC must be satisfied that the overseas supervisory authority is an authority discharging any function that is the same as, or similar to, a function of the JFSC.

5.3.3  The JFSC interprets “similar function” to apply such that an authority matching the following cumulative criteria will be included in the definition:

5.3.3.1  Its functions include those related to the regulation of financial services and/or supervision of designated non-financial businesses and professions (as defined by the Financial Action Task Force);

5.3.3.2  It is required, ordinarily by statute, to ascertain the fitness and propriety of persons or register persons before they operate in a particular area of financial services or operate a designated non-financial business or profession; and

5.3.3.3  It has the ability to take action against such persons (including the removal of status) should they subsequently fall below required standards.

5.3.4  Before exercising any of the powers described in 5.2 above, the JFSC must be satisfied that its use is to assist the overseas supervisory authority in the exercise of one or more of its supervisory functions.

5.3.5  Where a breach of legislation is suspected, whilst the JFSC does not expect an overseas supervisory authority to demonstrate that an offence has been committed, in order for the JFSC to give assistance, the Supervisory Bodies Law requires the JFSC to receive information that shows there are reasonable grounds for suspecting that an offence has been committed.

5.3.6  In addition, where information in the possession of the JFSC is to be disclosed to an overseas supervisory authority, the JFSC must be satisfied that the authority will treat the information communicated with appropriate confidentiality and comply with any conditions attached to the disclosure.

5.3.7  In deciding whether to exercise any of the powers described above, the Supervisory Bodies Law states that the JFSC may take the following factors (among others) into account:

5.3.7.1  Whether corresponding assistance would be given in that country or territory to the JFSC;

5.3.7.2  Whether the case concerns the possible breach of a law, or other requirement, which has no close parallel in Jersey or involves the assertion of a jurisdiction not recognized by Jersey;

5.3.7.3  The seriousness of the case and its importance in Jersey and whether the assistance could be obtained by other means; and
5.3.7.4 Whether it is otherwise appropriate in the public interest to give the assistance.

5.4 Costs of assisting

5.4.1 The Supervisory Bodies Law provides that the JFSC may refuse to assist an overseas supervisory authority unless the authority undertakes to make such contribution towards the costs of the exercise of the relevant power as the JFSC considers appropriate.

5.4.2 Notwithstanding this legal provision, the JFSC’s policy is to assist an overseas supervisory authority without charging, unless the exercise of the relevant power would be likely to involve substantial cost to the JFSC. Where a charge is considered necessary, the JFSC will first of all discuss with the overseas supervisory authority what contribution towards the costs of the work would be appropriate.

5.5 Making a request for assistance

5.5.1 Make your request in writing, specifying the information you seek and why it is required. Your request should be in the English language. To assist overseas supervisory authorities a template request letter is shown in Appendix A.

5.5.2 Where breaches of legislation are suspected or the exercise of one of the powers described in 5.2.1.1 to 5.2.1.7 above is sought, additionally specify the assistance you seek and why it is needed. In these types of cases, the JFSC has often found that it is helpful for an overseas supervisory authority to initially discuss the request orally with the JFSC so that guidance can be given on how best to structure the formal written request, in due course.

5.5.3 As referred to in 5.3.6, the JFSC must be satisfied that an overseas supervisory authority will treat any information disclosed to it with appropriate confidentiality. In this regard, include in your letter a summary of the confidentiality provisions that will apply in your jurisdiction to any information that the JFSC provides you with. (A briefing note on the information confidentiality provisions applying to information disclosed to the JFSC by an overseas supervisory authority can be found in Appendix B.)

5.6 Relevant legislation

› Article 39 of the Proceeds of Crime (Supervisory Bodies) (Jersey) Law 2008.
6 Information Exchange under Non-Profit Organization Legislation

6.1 Overview

6.1.1 The NPO Law requires certain non-profit organizations to register with the JFSC. The JFSC is given, amongst other things, an obligation under the NPO Law to help to determine if an NPO is assisting or being used to assist terrorism. Where it suspects that an NPO is assisting or being used to assist terrorism, the JFSC must immediately inform Jersey’s Attorney General.

6.1.2 The NPO Law requires NPOs to provide the JFSC with certain information to enable the JFSC to assess the extent (if any) to which the NPO is assisting or being used to assist terrorism or is likely to assist or be used to assist terrorism.

6.2 The passing of information on an NPO to a body outside Jersey

6.2.1 The NPO Law allows the JFSC to supply to a body outside Jersey that exercises functions that are similar to the functions that the JFSC has under the NPO Law non-public information that the JFSC holds in relation to an NPO.

6.2.2 Note that the JFSC’s functions are limited to assisting in the countering of terrorism. The JFSC does not have wider oversight responsibilities and does not fulfil the role of charities regulator.

6.3 Conditions precedent

6.3.1 Before passing information to a body outside Jersey, the NPO Law requires the JFSC to be satisfied that the information is to be used by the body solely in the exercise of its functions that are similar to the functions that the JFSC exercises under the NPO Law.

6.3.2 The JFSC interprets “similar function” to apply such that a body matching the following cumulative criteria will be included in the definition:

6.3.2.1 Its functions include those related to the area of NPOs;

6.3.2.2 It is required, ordinarily by statute, to register NPOs (with or without an assessment of fitness and propriety); and

6.3.2.3 It has the ability to take action, or to recommend that another body takes action, against NPOs and connected persons should they subsequently fall below required standards.

6.3.3 The JFSC will wish to be satisfied that the overseas body will treat any information to be disclosed with appropriate confidentiality and comply with any conditions attached to the disclosure.

6.3.4 In deciding whether to exercise any of the powers described above, the JFSC may take the following factors (among others) into account:

6.3.4.1 Whether corresponding assistance would be given in that country or territory to the JFSC;

6.3.4.2 Whether the case concerns the possible breach of a law, or other requirement, which has no close parallel in Jersey or involves the assertion of a jurisdiction not recognized by Jersey;
6.3.4.3 The seriousness of the case and its importance in Jersey and whether the assistance could be obtained by other means; and

6.3.4.4 Whether it is otherwise appropriate in the public interest to give the assistance.

6.4 Costs of assisting

6.4.1 The JFSC’s policy is to assist overseas bodies without charging, unless the exercise would be likely to involve substantial cost to the JFSC. Where a charge is considered necessary, the JFSC will first of all discuss with the overseas body what contribution towards the costs of the work would be appropriate.

6.5 Making a request for information

6.5.1 For enquiries relating to NPOs overseen by the JFSC under the NPO Law make your request in writing, specifying the information you seek and why it is required. Your request should be in the English language. To assist overseas supervisory authorities a template request letter is shown in Appendix A.

6.5.2 Include in your letter a summary of the confidentiality provisions that will apply in your jurisdiction to any information that the JFSC discloses to you. (A briefing note on the information confidentiality provisions applying to information disclosed to the JFSC by an overseas supervisory authority can be found in Appendix B.)

6.5.3 The JFSC has often found that it is helpful for an overseas body to initially discuss the request orally with the JFSC so that guidance can be given on how best to structure the formal written request, in due course.

› Article 19 of the Non-Profit Organizations (Jersey) Law 2008.
7 Investigations into suspected insider dealing or market manipulation

7.1 Overview

7.1.1 The Financial Services Law provides the JFSC with powers to investigate suspected cases of insider dealing or market manipulation.

7.1.2 The JFSC may also use these powers to assist an overseas supervisory authority where it is investigating a suspected case of insider dealing or market manipulation with a Jersey connection.

7.1.3 Two of the key areas where the JFSC is able to assist an overseas supervisory authority are:

7.1.3.1 Obtaining and providing information to ascertain if the profits from a case of suspected insider dealing or market manipulation have been credited to a Jersey bank account; and

7.1.3.2 Obtaining and providing information from an investment dealer relating to the sale or purchase of the relevant securities.

7.2 The powers the JFSC may exercise to assist an overseas supervisory authority

7.2.1 The particular powers that the Financial Services Law provides for the JFSC to exercise in order to assist an overseas supervisory authority in the investigation of a suspected case of insider dealing or market manipulation are:

7.2.1.1 Power to obtain information and documents;

7.2.1.2 Power to appoint an inspector;

7.2.1.3 Power to apply to Jersey’s Bailiff (Chief Judge) for a warrant to enter and search premises; and

7.2.1.4 Power to communicate information that is in the possession of the JFSC (notwithstanding confidentiality provisions).

7.3 Conditions precedent

7.3.1 The Financial Services Law requires certain conditions to be met before the JFSC may assist an overseas supervisory authority where it is investigating a suspected case of insider dealing or market manipulation with a Jersey connection. These are described below.

7.3.2 The JFSC must be satisfied that the overseas supervisory authority is an authority discharging any function that is the same as, or similar to, a function of the JFSC. See 4.3.3 above.

7.3.3 Before exercising any of the powers described in 7.2 above, the JFSC must be satisfied that their use is to assist the overseas supervisory authority in the exercise of one or more of its supervisory functions.
7.3.4 Whilst the JFSC does not expect an overseas supervisory authority to demonstrate that an insider dealing or market manipulation offence has been committed, in order for the JFSC to give assistance, the Financial Services Law requires the JFSC to receive information that shows there are reasonable grounds for suspecting that an offence has been committed.

7.3.5 In addition, where information in the possession of the JFSC is to be disclosed to an overseas supervisory authority, the JFSC must be satisfied that the overseas supervisory authority will treat the information communicated with appropriate confidentiality and comply with any conditions attached to the disclosure.

7.3.6 In deciding whether to exercise any of the powers described above, the Financial Services Law states that the JFSC may take the following factors (among others) into account:

- Whether corresponding assistance would be given in that country or territory to the JFSC;
- Whether the case concerns the possible breach of a law, or other requirement, which has no close parallel in Jersey or involves the assertion of a jurisdiction not recognized by Jersey;
- The seriousness of the case and its importance in Jersey and whether the assistance could be obtained by other means; and
- Whether it is otherwise appropriate in the public interest to give the assistance.

7.4 Costs of assisting

7.4.1 The Financial Services Law provides that the JFSC may refuse to assist an overseas supervisory authority unless the authority undertakes to make such contribution towards the costs of the exercise of the relevant power as the JFSC considers appropriate.

7.4.2 Notwithstanding this legal provision, the JFSC’s policy is to assist an overseas supervisory authority without charging, unless the exercise of the relevant power would be likely to involve substantial cost to the JFSC. Where a charge is considered necessary, the JFSC will first of all discuss with the overseas supervisory authority what contribution towards the costs of the work would be appropriate.

7.5 Making a request for assistance

7.5.1 Make your request in writing, specifying the assistance you seek and why it is needed. Your request should be in the English language. To assist overseas supervisory authorities a template request letter is shown in Appendix A.

7.5.2 As referred to in 7.3.5, the JFSC must be satisfied that an overseas supervisory authority will treat any information communicated with appropriate confidentiality. In this regard, include in your letter a summary of the confidentiality provisions that will apply in your jurisdiction to any information that the JFSC provides you with. (A briefing note on the information confidentiality provisions applying to information disclosed to the JFSC by an overseas supervisory authority can be found in Appendix B.)

7.5.3 The JFSC has often found that it is helpful for an overseas supervisory authority to initially discuss the request orally with the JFSC so that guidance can be given on how best to structure the formal written request, in due course.

8 Investigations into the affairs of a Jersey company

8.1 Overview

8.1.1 The Companies Law provides the JFSC, on the application of the Jersey Registrar of Companies, with the power to appoint an inspector to investigate the affairs of a company and to report on them to the JFSC. Whilst the Companies Law does not restrict the scope of an inspection into the affairs of a company, a key area where such an inspection may assist an overseas supervisory authority is to examine whether the actions of the directors of a company were unlawful, constitute misconduct (whether fraudulent or not), or otherwise prejudiced shareholders.

8.1.2 The JFSC also has access to information on the beneficial ownership of Jersey companies. A request for information on the ownership of a Jersey company should be submitted in line with 4.5 above.

8.2 The powers of an inspector appointed by the JFSC

8.2.1 An inspector appointed by the JFSC has wide powers that include:

8.2.1.1 Power to obtain information and documents;
8.2.1.2 Power to examine a person on oath;
8.2.1.3 Power to call for the records of a director’s bank account, in cases of suspected misconduct; and
8.2.1.4 Power to apply to Jersey’s Bailiff (Chief Judge) for a warrant to enter and search premises.

8.3 Conditions precedent

8.3.1 Before appointing an inspector under the Companies Law, on the application of the Jersey Registrar of Companies, the JFSC will wish to be satisfied that there is a proper basis for the appointment and that the appointment will assist the overseas supervisory authority in the exercise of one or more of its supervisory functions.

8.3.2 Whilst the JFSC does not expect the Jersey Registrar of Companies or overseas supervisory authority to demonstrate that misconduct, an unlawful act, etc. has been committed, in order for the JFSC to appoint an inspector, the JFSC will wish to receive information that shows there are reasonable grounds for suspecting misconduct, an unlawful act, etc. has occurred.

8.3.3 In order to share an inspector’s report with an overseas supervisory authority, the Companies Law requires the JFSC to satisfy itself that the overseas supervisory authority is an authority discharging any function that is the same as, or similar to, a function of the JFSC.

8.3.4 In addition, the JFSC will wish to be satisfied that the authority will treat any information disclosed with appropriate confidentiality and comply with any conditions attached to the disclosure.

8.3.5 In deciding whether to appoint an inspector on the application of the Jersey Registrar of Companies, the JFSC may take the following factors (among others) into account:

8.3.5.1 Whether corresponding assistance would be given by the overseas supervisory authority to the JFSC;
8.3.5.2 Whether the case concerns the possible breach of a law, or other requirement, which has no close parallel in Jersey or involves the assertion of a jurisdiction not recognized by Jersey;

8.3.5.3 The seriousness of the case and its importance in Jersey and whether the assistance could be obtained by other means; and

8.3.5.4 Whether it is otherwise appropriate in the public interest to give the assistance.

8.4 Costs of assisting

8.4.1 The JFSC’s policy is to assist an overseas supervisory authority without charging, unless the exercise of the relevant power would be likely to involve substantial cost to the JFSC. Where a charge is considered necessary, the JFSC will first of all discuss with the overseas supervisory authority what contribution towards the costs of the work would be appropriate.

8.5 Making a request for assistance

8.5.1 Make your request in writing, specifying the assistance you seek and why it is needed. Your request should be in the English language.

8.5.2 The JFSC has often found that it is helpful for an overseas supervisory authority to initially discuss the request orally with the JFSC so that guidance can be given on how best to structure the formal written request, in due course.

Re: [Name of person or entity to which the information request relates]

1. Introduction

[This section should include:

› a summary of the information sought;
› the name of the person or entity that is believed to hold the information;
› whether the information request is being made pursuant to a memorandum of understanding;
› the timescale in which the information is sought.]

2. Background to the request for information

[This section should include:

› a detailed description of the background (e.g. the trading activity) that has led to the need for the information;
› if the information is sought in connection with suspected unlawful action, a description of the law that is suspected to have been breached and a note of the maximum penalty that can be imposed in respect of such a breach.]

3. Purpose for which the information is sought

[This section should describe the purpose for which the information is sought. For example, the information may be sought to confirm that a certain person has benefitted from the proceeds of insider dealing.]

4. Information requested
[This section should set out in very specific detail the information that is requested. For example:

› the name and address of the person whom, or entity which, is believed to hold the information that is sought;

› where copy bank statements are requested, the name of the account holder, the account numbers (where known) and the time period which the statements should cover;

› what copy documentation is sought (e.g. “copies of all credit slips in the period X to Y”, “all documentation confirming the identity of the beneficial owner of the account”]

5. Confirmations

[In this section the requesting authority should confirm that:

› any information disclosed to it by the JFSC will only be used by the requesting authority in the discharge of its supervisory functions;

› it will treat any information disclosed as confidential and make no voluntary onward disclosure of the information without the consent of the JFSC;

› it will comply with any conditions attached by the JFSC to the disclosure of the information;

› the JFSC’s consent will be sought in good time before the voluntary onward disclosure of the information provided to the requesting authority by the JFSC;

› wherever practicable, the JFSC will be notified in good time by the requesting authority of the possibility of the onward disclosure of the information by virtue of a legal obligation, and the requesting authority will, if requested by the JFSC, assert such appropriate legal exemptions or privileges with respect to the information as may be available;

› where the circumstances are such that it is not practicable for the requesting authority to notify the JFSC of the possibility of the onward disclosure of the information by virtue of a legal obligation, the requesting authority will assume that the JFSC would wish it to assert such appropriate legal exemptions or privileges with respect to the information as may be available.]

6. Information confidentiality

[This section should summarise the information confidentiality provisions that will apply in the jurisdiction of the requesting authority to any information that the JFSC discloses to it.

By way of example, see Appendix B in this handbook for a briefing note on the information confidentiality provisions applying to information disclosed to the JFSC by an overseas supervisory authority.

This section 6 will not be required where the requesting authority has previously supplied such a summary to the JFSC and there has not subsequently been any material change to the information therein.]
Appendix B

Confidentiality Provisions applying to information disclosed to the JFSC by an Overseas Supervisory Authority
APPENDIX B
Confidentiality provisions applying to information disclosed to the JFSC by an Overseas Supervisory Body

Introduction
This is a briefing note on the information confidentiality provisions that apply to information disclosed by an overseas supervisory authority to the JFSC. Information received by the JFSC under or for the purposes of its regulatory laws is “restricted information”.

The laws that govern how the JFSC must treat restricted information can be split into four categories as set out below. A copy of all of the legislation referred to may be obtained from the website of the Jersey Legal Information Board (www.jerseylaw.je).

Category 1: Financial services legislation

Under this legislation the JFSC prudentially supervises businesses that carry on specified types of financial services business. There are four pieces of legislation:

› Banking Business (Jersey) Law 1991
› Collective Investment Funds (Jersey) Law 1988
› Financial Services (Jersey) Law 1998
› Insurance Business (Jersey) Law 1996

The Financial Services (Jersey) Law 1998 also provides the JFSC with the power to investigate suspected cases of insider dealing and market manipulation.

Category 2: AML/CFT oversight legislation

Under the Proceeds of Crime (Supervisory Bodies) (Jersey) Law 2008 the JFSC oversees businesses for their compliance with anti-money laundering/countering the financing of terrorism legislation and related regulatory requirements.

Category 3: Oversight of non-profit organizations legislation

Under the Non-Profit Organizations (Jersey) Law 2008 the JFSC has an obligation to help determine if a non-profit organization is assisting or being used to assist terrorism.

Category 4: Companies legislation

Under the Companies (Jersey) Law 1991 the JFSC has the power to appoint an inspector to investigate and report upon the affairs of a Jersey company.
Provisions applying to information disclosed by an overseas supervisory authority to the JFSC

This part summarises how Jersey law protects information received by the JFSC from an overseas supervisory authority. In summary, the JFSC may only disclose restricted information received from an overseas supervisory authority where the JFSC has a statutory information gateway that it may use or it is legally obliged to disclose the information, as further described below.

Statutory information gateways

The provisions dealing with information received by the JFSC (restricted information) and the mechanisms by which it may be disclosed (information gateways) under each of the four categories of legislation set out in the introduction to this briefing note differ slightly, so each category is described separately below. The information gateways that are summarised allow, but do not require, the JFSC to share information.

Where the JFSC receives information from an overseas supervisory authority that has been provided with restrictions on its use, then, subject to any legal obligation to provide information that may apply, the JFSC will respect such restrictions. However, were the JFSC to resolve to voluntarily disclose such information without the consent of the relevant overseas supervisory authority, the Royal Court might, on the application of that authority, prevent such disclosure by way of injunction.

Legal obligation to provide information

Under Jersey law the JFSC is legally obliged to make disclosures in the circumstances set out in the Annex.

Where the JFSC receives a legally enforceable demand for information, e.g. it is served with a court order (see paragraph 1 in the Annex), but the information sought had been provided to the JFSC on the condition that the JFSC will not disclose the information without the consent of the overseas supervisory authority, then the JFSC can apply to the Royal Court to impose a duty of confidence on the JFSC. In such a case, it is possible that the Royal Court may decide to override such a condition and order the JFSC to disclose where the interests of justice require it.

Circumstances can also arise where the JFSC is legally obliged to spontaneously disclose information that it receives from an overseas supervisory authority, despite the fact that the information was provided on the condition that the JFSC not disclose it. The most likely instance would be where the information received by the JFSC indicates that a person has been engaged in money laundering or terrorist financing. In such cases, the JFSC would be required to report the matter to Jersey’s financial intelligence unit (part of the States of Jersey Police). Further information can be found in paragraphs 5 and 6 in the Annex.

Data protection legislation

The JFSC is also bound by the Data Protection (Jersey) Law 2018, which protects personal data (i.e. data about living individuals) and governs the JFSC’s ability to disclose personal data in Jersey and overseas.

Generally speaking, where the JFSC is satisfied that it can disclose restricted information under a law in one of the four categories of legislation covered above, the disclosure will also be permissible under the Data Protection (Jersey) Law 2018.
Category 1: Financial services legislation

Financial services legislation broadly makes any disclosure by the JFSC of information received under, or for the purposes of, financial services legislation a criminal offence, including information supplied to the JFSC by an overseas supervisory authority for the purposes of the JFSC’s functions, except in the following circumstances:

› Where the person from whom the information was obtained, and (if different) the person to whom it relates, consents;
› Where the information is already available to the public from other sources;
› Where the information is in the form of a summary or collection of information so framed that it is not possible to ascertain from it information relating to any particular person;
› Where the information shows whether a person is registered, holds a permit or certificate - this includes the disclosure of any conditions which are attached to a registration, permit or certificate;
› Where the JFSC has an information gateway through which to disclose information (see below); and › Where the JFSC is obligated to disclose information by law (see the Annex).

The Proceeds of Crime (Supervisory Bodies) (Jersey) Law 2008 broadly makes any disclosure by the JFSC of information received under, or for the purposes of, this law a criminal offence, including information supplied to the JFSC by an overseas supervisory authority for the purposes of the JFSC’s functions, except in the following circumstances:

› Where the person from whom the information was obtained, and (if different) the person to whom it relates, consents;

Category 3: Oversight of non-profit organizations legislation

The Non-Profit Organizations (Jersey) Law 2008 provides the JFSC with gateways to enable it to pass restricted information that has come into the JFSC’s possession as a result of it carrying out its obligations under this law.

This law also enables the JFSC to publish information in the form of a summary or collection of information so framed that it is not possible to ascertain from it information relating to any particular person.

Jersey customary law would also enable the JFSC to disclose restricted information where the person from whom the information was obtained, and (if different) the person to whom it relates, consents.

There are also circumstances in which the JFSC is obligated to disclose restricted information by law (see the Annex).

Category 4: Companies legislation

The Companies (Jersey) Law 1991 provides the JFSC with a gateway (see below) to enable it to pass on a report - which may contain restricted information - that has been produced by an inspector appointed under this law by the JFSC. The Companies (Jersey) Law 1991 also allows the JFSC to have an inspector’s report printed and published.

Jersey customary law would also enable the JFSC to disclose restricted information where the person from whom the information was obtained, and (if different) the person to whom it relates, consents.

There are also circumstances in which the JFSC is obligated to disclose restricted information by law (see the Annex).

Obligation to disclose restricted information

Under Jersey law the JFSC is legally obliged to make disclosures in the following circumstances:

1. Where Jersey’s Attorney General (Chief Prosecutor), Bailiff (Chief Judge) or Royal Court, as the case may be (see below) uses powers granted under statute to compel the JFSC to provide information with a view to the investigation of a suspected offence, or institution of, or otherwise for the purposes of, any criminal proceedings to which the JFSC is not a party. For example, under the:-
   - Investigation of Fraud (Jersey) Law 1991 [Attorney General]
   - Criminal Justice (International Co-operation) (Jersey) Law 2001 [Attorney General]
   - Proceeds of Crime (Jersey) Law 1999 [Bailiff]
   - Terrorism (Jersey) Law 2002 [Bailiff]
   - Evidence (Proceedings in other Jurisdictions) (Jersey) Order 1983 [Royal Court]

2. Where Jersey’s Chief Minister uses powers granted under the Terrorist Asset-Freezing (Jersey) Law 2011 to compel the JFSC to furnish information which the Chief Minister may require for (inter alia): monitoring compliance with or detecting evasion of the Law; or obtaining evidence of the commission of an offence under the Law.

3. Where Jersey’s Attorney General, Minister for External Relations or Agent of the Impôts (as the case may be) uses powers granted under the Al-Qa’ida and Taliban (United Nations Measures) (Channel Islands) Order 2002 to compel the JFSC to furnish information which they may require for the purpose of securing compliance with, or detecting evasion of, the sanctions imposed under the Order.

4. Where the Minister for External Relations uses powers granted under the EU Legislation (Sanctions) (General Provisions) (Jersey) Order 2014 to require the JFSC to provide information or documents in order for the Minister to implement, or otherwise ensure compliance with, sanctions legislation.

5. Where the JFSC is of the opinion that the information indicates that any person has or may have been engaged in money laundering or terrorist financing (Article 23 of the Money Laundering (Jersey) Order 2008).

6. Where the JFSC believes or suspects that another person has committed an offence under Articles 15 or 16 of the Terrorism (Jersey) Law 2002 (Article 19 of the Terrorism (Jersey) Law 2002) or knows or suspects that another person is engaged in money laundering (Article 34A of the Proceeds of Crime (Jersey) Law 1999).

7. Individuals have a right to the personal data held about them by the JFSC (Article 28 of the Data Protection (Jersey) Law 2018), except (inter alia) to the extent that disclosure of data would be likely to prejudice the proper discharge of the JFSC’s functions (Article 48 of the Data Protection (Jersey) Law 2018) or the data are processed for the prevention, detection or investigation anywhere of crime (Article 45 of the Data Protection (Jersey) Law 2018).

3 Note that certain of the gateways require the Commission to be satisfied, before disclosing any information, that the recipient complies with, or will comply with, any conditions to which the Commission may, in its discretion, subject the disclosure of the information.

4 N.B. In civil proceedings, the Royal Court cannot order disclosure by the JFSC to a third party, unless the subject matter of the case arises directly out of the Financial Services Law (or other Regulatory Law). For example, the JFSC could not be ordered to disclose information where the claim by the Plaintiff is that he had suffered loss by virtue of a breach of contract by a prudentially supervised person. But the Royal Court could, for example, order disclosure of information by the JFSC where a claim, for example, was that the Plaintiff had suffered loss by virtue of a breach of licence conditions. However, if disclosure was ordered the JFSC could make an application to the Royal Court for public interest immunity from disclosure. The JFSC anticipates that, if such a case arose (one never has to date), the Royal Court would give due weight to the importance of protecting confidential information received from an overseas supervisory authority and whether the ordering of disclosure would jeopardise the JFSC’s ability to receive information in future from overseas supervisory authorities.
